Reminders

✧ You cannot pick up a discarded tile to make a single or a pair (unless it is the last tile required to win Mah Jongg).

✧ You cannot pick up a discarded tile for a concealed hand unless it is the final tile to win the Mah Jongg. If you pick up and display any part of a concealed hand, the hand is no longer concealed. If that happens before you can win, your only option is to find another sequence which uses that same exposed completion and is not shown with a C for concealed.

✧ When discarding a tile, take your time to make sure that you cannot use it to claim a displayed Joker.

✧ Once you have named the tile or touched the table with the tile, it is considered to be discarded. You cannot reclaim it. No exceptions! No player can pick up a discarded tile to claim a Joker. If you are discarding near the end of the game and know you cannot win, you may prefer to discard a Joker to stop others from winning.

✧ Be careful when putting together sequences with dragons. If the dragons are shown in the same color as the rest of the sequence, they are all in the same suit. If the dragons are shown in a different color, then they must be a different suit.

✧ When a player declares Mah Jongg and displays all the tiles, the sequence should be verified by all players to make certain that a mistake has not been made. Do not assume it is correct.

✧ If the call for winning Mah Jongg was in error, the player is out of the game and the hand is “dead.” The game continues with the remaining players.

✧ Any Jokers that were displayed prior to the hand being declared “dead” are available to be claimed by others.

✧ Any Jokers displayed at the same time the Mah Jongg was announced in error are considered “dead” and cannot be claimed by others.
